He noted that they were in town to tour the facilities affected by the Flood of 2008 and to see the progress that has been made.

Regional Administrator Freeman stated that the University has been a great partner in facilitating the process; she complimented Senior Vice President True and his staff because the process is not simple and a lot of work has been undertaken in this endeavor. She noted the importance of the partnership with Iowa Homeland Security and Emergency Management Department and its personnel.

Senior Vice President True also recognized Dennis Harper and Katie Waters from Iowa Homeland Security and thanked them for their support.

Chairman Dakovich thanked FEMA for the assistance and cooperation shown and noted that the end of a long journey was drawing closer. Regional Administrator Freeman stated that while there have been some bumps along the way, it had been a great partnership.

Senior Vice President True summarized the report that was in the agenda materials and is presented at each Committee meeting. He summarized the status of the major flood recovery/mitigation projects and noted how the severe weather of last winter had impacted the schedules of the projects.

Executive Vice President and Provost Barry Butler gave an update on the replacement of the Museum of Art. In June 2013, the Board granted the University permission to proceed with project planning and to pursue a public/private partnership for a joint-use facility. Following a request for information and qualifications process, the University selected a development partner - H & H Development Group, a local group in partnership with Mortenson Inc. of Minneapolis. Provost Butler noted that the next step is to enter into a multi-month negotiation phase with the selected development team; this step would include selection of the design team, development of the design concept and schematic design (project size of approximately 60,000 square feet), and the establishment of a proposed lease agreement. The lease agreement and design would be presented to the Committee and Board for consideration and approval as the items are completed.
Provost Butler also announced a major outreach effort through the launch of Integrated Outreach With Art (I.O.W.A.), a free, statewide program by the University’s Museum of Art that includes a wide range of art exhibitions, loans, education programs, and consulting services to partner institutions in Iowa. He noted that any organization in Iowa can take part in I.O.W.A. and the goal is to include as many partners as possible; there are four levels of participation.

Senior Vice President True also introduced Sean O’Harrow, Director of the Museum of Art and Susan Klatt, Director of Financial Management and Budget, who has worked in the background on the flood recovery process.

The Committee received the report.
