RE: Strategic Plan Comments, Iowa School for the Deaf

We have made no changes in the mission statement, the beliefs statement, the vision statement, the values statement, or in the culture statement.

We are recommending a working change in Benchmark 1.3.1.2 to make it consistent with the language in other Benchmarks addressing a similar topic. Specifically, that it read: "By the end of year FY 04, 70% or more of the students in the 3rd through 12th grades will score between the 31-70 percentiles on the Stanford Achievement Test for the Hearing Impaired (SAT-HI) mathematics subtest."

The priority areas in staff development are on reading enhancement for the students, behavioral management of the students, and technology literacy. All on campus staff development activities have focused on these specific topics. Staff have been encouraged to participate in staff development activities beyond the on-campus activities.

We are very close to achieving our goal of 65% of the faculty with advanced degrees. We have 63% of the faculty who have attained an advanced degree, with some additional 30% who are working on an advanced degree, or have taken graduate courses.

We have slipped backward in the number of faculty with the Council on Education of the Deaf national certification. Now some 70% of the faculty have this certification, and our goal is to have 90% with the certification.

Some 53% of our student life (direct care) staff have a post secondary degree. This exceeds our target of 50%.

The student achievement data is noted in our annual report. We changed our reporting format to be more similar to the data required from the federal No Child Left Behind Act. Our students continue to achieve above the national norms for deaf youngsters. Our criterion referenced testing data is starting to show trends in individual learning patterns. These will be noted in our presentation.

Our student body is becoming more diverse, in addition to all having a hearing loss. We are seeing a similar trend in our staff, exclusive of faculty. Nationally, there are not many faculty candidates of a racial/ethnic minority, and many schools are competing for these individuals.

We continue to put emphasis on faculty taking graduate courses. However, given our budgetary difficulties, we substantially reduced the number of approvals granted. A course had to directly relate to one of our priority areas of focus.

We continue to address deferred maintenance projects the best that we can. Because we left many faculty and staff positions vacant, there were some funds available at the end of the year to address this topic. We drastically reduced the working budget for the year due to an insufficient amount of appropriations (and our priority was to fund salaries and benefits).

We did reallocate some 3.1% of our budget, but virtually all of it went to covering the insufficient appropriation for salaries and benefits.

We did institute numerous efficiency actions. Not all were desired, but were necessary based on the appropriation received. We eliminated two administrative positions (one principal, and the assistant to the superintendent), one counselor (middle school), and one librarian, and several residential counselors. We consolidated students on dormitory floors in order to provide adequate supervision.

We participated in numerous inter-institutional endeavors (more than 32 projects with ISU alone). We have inter-agency partnerships with some five local school districts, multiple programs with AEA 13, a Transition Alliance Program with Vocational Rehabilitation Services, our cooperative agreements with the Iowa Department of Education (statewide consultant), and the Nebraska initiative.

Additional information is shown on the charts that are attached to the strategic plan.
